John Feodorov's work reflects his interest in the relentless human search for meaning and identity – a search for a spiritual “Something” or a romanticized “Other,” that may or may not exist. Ambiguities showcases the artist's video, installation, and two-dimensional works that examine the interactions that occur in the midst of a quest for meaning, spirituality, or self discovery. Feodorov explores the elusive nature of meaning by complicating the relationship between the sacred and profane, while creating a psychic disruption of the conscious self by questioning and overturning assumptions and opinions.

The public is invited to attend an opening reception for the artist from 12–1:30 pm, Monday, May 18, and an artist lecture from 10-11 am on Wednesday, May 20.

Spring Quarter Gallery hours:
Monday-Thursday 10 am – 6 pm
Friday 10 am – 4 pm

Art Gallery admission is always free and open to the public.

The mission of the South Seattle Community College Art Gallery is to introduce students and the community at large to unique artists and their works.
