

RELEASE

SOUTH SEATTLE COMMUNITY COLLEGE • 6000 16th Avenue, SW, Seattle, WA 98106-1499

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

April 4, 2002

Community Cooking Classes Now Offered at South Seattle Community College

Are you fresh out of new ideas for dinner? Continuing Education at South Seattle Community College (SSCC) has some classes that might spice up your life.

As a part of its Lifelong Learning program, the Continuing Education Department at SSCC is offering the following classes to the public – for the first time in the same kitchen used by our award-winning culinary students:

- Vegetarian Sushi Rolls – April 11
- Secrets of Easy & Flavorful Vegetarian Soups – April 24
- Innovative Vegetarian Noodle Dishes – May 9
- Festive Vegetarian Celebration Feast – May 16

Classes are taught by Seppo Farrey, culinary instructor, chef and best-selling author with over 20 years of experience in the food industry. His cookbook was nominated for the “James Beard Award for Best Vegetarian Cookbook of 2001.”

All classes are one session, Thursday evenings and last from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. For information or to register call (206) 764-5339.

What: Vegetarian Cooking Classes

When: Evenings in April & May
6:30 p.m. – 9:00 p.m.

Where: South Seattle Community College Culinary Arts Program Kitchen
Located in the Cafeteria next to Clock Tower Plaza
6000 16th Avenue, S.W., Seattle, WA 98106-1499.

Cost: $45 – $48 for each class

For information or to register call (206) 764-5339.

For more information contact:
Luisa Motten, Program Manager, Continuing Education, (206) 768-6782

###