South Seattle Community College Garden Center Hosts Year-End Sale

If you like to garden, this is your last chance this season to save on indoor and outdoor plants.

South Seattle Community College's Garden Center is closing for the season, so all plants will be marked down 30 percent. The sale lasts from Thursday, June 27 through Saturday June 29.

The Garden Center offers a wide variety of plants to choose from, such as groundcovers, perennials, deciduous and broadleaf shrubs, vines and dwarf conifers. The center is also a great place to find plants native to Washington State for both sun and shade areas.

While visiting the college, take the opportunity to take a stroll through our Arboretum and see the new Seattle Chinese Garden in progress. You might find some inspirational ideas to take home to your own garden.
